Haven't used them for anything yet but do appear to shoot plenty well enough for cape buffalo at close/medium range.

I shoot several different cutting edge bullets, they all shoot fantastic. I am a former Marine Corps sniper and consider them the best bullets on the market- bar none.

God blessed me with the opportunity to acquire a .375 H&H Remington classic. I ordered these bullets to have solids so I'd have all of the bone crushing penetration possible with the cartridge. We set up 20 jugs of water and failed to catch the bullet! The shot was not quite centered but we got an entrance and exit on each bottle for a total of 100.5 inches of water and 0.5 inches of plastic! Looking forward to try again. I don't know if I'll ever be blessed with an African hunt but if I ever am these bullets will make me prepared for the big guys!

Not only am I getting great accuracy with these bullets in my Ruger Hawkeye African, the 275 grain Raptor co-regulates perfectly with it.
