Charles Hellis made 1913 ~ Great value

Description:

Boxlocks - I adore how Hellis improved on the image of the boxlock with the addition of the side plate. Hellis became known for this feature and probably did it just for the "Hell of it." :)

This gun has great dimensions for many. The length of pull can be adjusted and we're happy to make some recommendations.

The choking is very English with a tight left choke and an open right choke. I would prefer to have the left opened up for upland game or clay practice. We can recommend a quality gunsmith.  Note: To see this gun with high resolution photos and a zoom-in feature, go to the vintagedoubles main site and search for the gun ID: 5736 or browse the main site to see our full gun collection.
